SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Although certain stockholders connected in an indirect way with one of the giant enterprises fathered by F. M. Smith, the prominent Oakland millionaire, have seen fit to bring an action in the bankruptcy court, the affairs of the millionaire, known far and wide as the Borax King, will not be at all muddled in consequence.

Smith was in San Francisco this morning and went to consult with his attorneys, Morrison, Dunne and Brobeck. He looked far from worried and seemed as though he would have liked to say something.

"I am sorry that I cannot say anything to you, but I merely came over here to consult with my lawyers," he explained.

Attorney W. I. Brobeck, who was present, hastened to add: "Mr. Smith

RAISEDExpenses Greater Than Estimate in Supervisors' Budget.

The probation office of Alameda county is in "serious financial difficulties," in addition to the trouble it is having in its dealings with the courts in connection with the care of delinquents and with probation matters.

Each month the administration of this department is increasing in cost, and the county's financiers are wondering how ends are going to be met.

An inspection of the county financial expert's books today revealed the fact that during the fiscal year 1912-1913 the expenses of the probation office, including salaries and administration of the detention house, were $10,000, although the estimate of the Board of Supervisors was but $7,500. The board's estimate of expenses, outside of salaries, was $25,000.

This budget was made up on figures submitted by Probation Officer Christopher Ruess. Since the fiscal year ended July 1 there has been added $175,72 to the total cost.

COST STILL GROWING.

At the present rate of increase in expense, the cost of the probation department

There Will Be One on Coast.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—"After the Panama canal is open the battleship fleet of the American navy will be as much in the Pacific ocean as in the Atlantic."

This was the declaration here today of Secretary Daniels of the navy department on his arrival from Los Angeles.

"The fleet probably will pass through the canal next April," continued the secretary, "and, of course, its presence in these waters will mean the establishment of a naval base, with docks and all the other equipment necessary for the maintenance of a fleet. The one logically follows the other."

"I am here to examine the sites suggested for a dry dock on San Francisco bay, not as an expert, but as a newspaper publisher temporarily assigned to be chief of the navy department. I shall not be able to view what is shown me with a technical eye, but my thought is to get a commission on Page 3, Col. 1.

Chief White's Exit
Said to Be Assured

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—The exit of Chief of Police White from the position as head of the San Francisco department is said to have been definitely set down for a certain date. The police commission, who have been holding numerous sessions in secret, and Mayor Rolph, who has been conducting a strenuous campaign for the municipal railway bonds, have had the subject of White's removal continually before them. Unless the present program is changed White is to be asked for his resignation or to be charged before the police commission immediately after the bond election.

Works Continues
Speech on Tariff

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Senator Gallinger, leader of the senate Republicans, could find no republican senator ready to speak on the tariff today except Senator Works, who resumed his address begun yesterday.

Several Republican senators have tariff speeches in preparation.

The senate planned to take the bill up again, paragraph by paragraph, when the California senator concluded.

Conference.Bryan Remains Silent on Subject to Be Discussed.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Henry Lane Wilson, the American ambassador to Mexico, arrived here this morning on his mission to discuss Mexican conditions with President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan.

The steamer Mexico on which he sailed from Havana July 22 was off Sandy Hook at the entrance to New York harbor at 10 a. m. Wilson is expected to reach Washington tonight.

Ambassador Wilson said that he was opposed to sending a commission to Mexico to try to mediate between the warring factions. He did not say what remedy he had to offer for the situation. He declared that he must reserve any opinion of this kind until he reached Washington and saw the President.

Wilson opposes a proposition that a tri-partite commission be organized made up of representatives of the United States and two South American republics to bring about peace between the warring factions.

While declining to enter into an extended discussion as mentioned of any plans or to offer any remedy of his own, Wilson characterized the mediation plan as "all rot."

The proposal for a tri-partite commission Wilson said, is not a feasible one. What is the use of John B. Hays, director of the International Bureau of American Republics," he said.

While not saying specifically that he favored recognition of the Huerta government by the United States, Ambassador Wilson indicated that it was his view that recognition should be given. In February, just subsequent to the overthrow of the Madero regime, Wilson said, he sent to American Consul General Hanna at Monterey a telegram requesting him to inform all consular officers under Hanna's jurisdiction that Huerta had

Annual Rental for Panama Canal Paid

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The first payment of $250,000 to Panama for the annual rental of the canal zone was made today. The payments are in addition to $10,000,000 paid in cash to Panama nine years ago.

Today's installment was actually due last February, though it was deferred until today for determination whether it should go to Panama or to the parent state Colombia. At the request of the Panama minister, Señor Morales, the money was paid over to a representative of William Nelson Cromwell of New York financial agent for the Panama government.

Further affirmative action against Diggs and Caminetti's inner white slave industry is being taken by the attorney general and also copies of the information placed in the files of the attorney general in connection of relating to the sending of such telegrams.

MUTINEERS TAKEN
FROM SING SINGUnder Strong Guard the Trouble Makers Are Removed.

OSSENING, N. Y., July 25.—Six convicts, the drags of New York City's criminal class were taken one by one from their cells in Sing Sing today and placed aboard a train for the state prison at Auburn.

Recent riot in Sing Sing caused the warden to take no chances. Each convict was heavily handcuffed and shackled and then taken to his place in the railroad car, which had been brought in to the prison enclosure.

A hundred prison guards did this work, while in the main assembly, not far away, a company of naval militia waited under arms.

There was little sleep in the prison last night. At intervals some of the prisoners were taken to the hall and brought back to their cells.

The task of the authorities was by no means over when they got the prisoners aboard the car. On the train to which the car was attached they appeared to feel nervous and nervous of the danger of a riot.

PRISONERS' CRIES.

When the first convicts were brought out to the car this morning Sing Sing suddenly awoke. More than 1000 prisoners rushed to their cell windows and cursed and howled and yelled threats at the spectators.

S. F. POLICE IGNORED

"Kid Rice — Please write my mother and tell her I am dying in a hospital; that I don't expect to live, for I am going to shoot myself and the girl I love. Please don't let mother know I killed myself for a love, and that she is a — but I love her the worst way. She is my second love, but she threw me down, and I can't stay by myself. I am going to kill myself and take her with me."

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Although the police had been notified three times last night that a murder was intended, Joseph Archer, a former prize fighter, walked into the room of Lillian Sadie Fernard, an actress, today, won a desperate struggle with her, pumped five bullets into her body, reloaded the revolver and then sent three missiles into his body. Both were dead when a policeman forced his way into the room.

The murdered woman was 23 years old and is believed to be the daughter of a Mrs. Entris, 1333 Eleventh street, Santa Monica, Cal. She lived at the lodging house as Mrs. W. H. Green.

Archer had been ejected from the hotel several times when attempting to visit her. Last night he called on Arthur Rice, a friend, told him that he intended to commit suicide and left him a letter which said Archer "did not intend to go alone"; that he meant to take with him his "second love."

GUESSES DANGER.

Well acquainted with Archer's affairs, Rice guessed that Mrs. Green was in danger and took the letter to the patrolman on the beat. The patrolman told him the address was off his beat and to communicate with the nearest police station. Rice did so and was referred to the detective because of the letter.

Action was taken there and Rice again urged the patrolman on the beat to make an investigation. Nothing was done and the murder and suicide followed according to plan.

QUARREL LEADS TO KNIFE FRAY

Attempt to Quell Disturbance Results in Wounding of Mediator.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—An excited quarrel in the lobby of the Hotel Winchester, Third street near Market, at 4 o'clock this morning, the attempt to quell the disturbance on the part of Thomas T. Devoy, the elevator operator, and the taunts of some of the bystanders, contributed to a rear tragedy. When the quarrel broke out, Devoy, who was found that Devoy had been stabbed in the right arm and that George Brown, a steward on the steamship San Jose, who is alleged to have been the knife wielder, had cut himself. Both were conveyed to the Harbor Emergency hospital.

UNCLE SAM HOLDS SALE

OF 'DEAD LETTER' PACKAGES

WASHINGTON, July 25.—When officials of the "dead letter" branch of the postoffice department today finished counting the dimes, nickels and pennies derived from the annual "dead letter" sale, they discovered that the United States government was $1105.75 richer as the result of carelessness on the part of those who in the last year entrusted badly directed packages to the mails. No parcels post matter was in this sale, as that service has not been established long enough to permit of a sale of uncalled for or misdirected packages.

The articles disposed of were of the usual variety and, under a recent ruling by the department, were opened for inspection by would-be purchasers before being offered for sale. Objections in the past to the "lottery" form of selling the packages at auction to the highest bidder, who trusted to luck to win a prize, aroused so much criticism that it was abandoned.

SUBURBAN EXTENSION PLANNED BY STOCKTON

STOCKTON, July 25.—Suburban districts surrounding Stockton and comprising approximately $600,000 real estate, will be developed within the next few months, according to a plan announced by the city council.

R. R. Hester, Stockton mayor, said that there will be no more in the project that he will postpone an action for a $500,000 bond extension until the outlying districts have been taken in.

Residents wearing the city council's plan, said to call attention to a not less expression of opinion on the scheme in the several districts are being prepared for circulation early in August. It will be the first actual step toward the attainment of a long-coveted goal as well as the greatest movement ever inaugurated for the expansion of Stockton. The project will be worked out under a new law which goes into effect on August 12.

MOTOR SERVICE FOR LAND SALES

Novel and Effective Method for Showing Prospective Purchasers Farms.

An automobile service with an organization as complete as that governing the operation of a railroad has been established by A. J. Rich & Co. to look after outside inquiries for Solano Irrigated Farms. The San Francisco "Flying Squadron" consists of ten men, and fifteen cars are in service up and down the coast.

Within three hours after receiving an inquiry at any of the division points any prospective buyer within a radius of 150 miles is visited by a salesman in an auto. Sacramento, Fresno and Stockton are other "division points" and each has its division superintendent. Reports of the movements and time schedule of every machine are regularly filed with the chief of the service. Motor cars have proved indispensable in the marketing of so large a land project, where miles of ground must be covered in showing the buyers around.

On the Sunday excursions of the company no less than forty machines are called into service, including two big sightseeing cars. The new use, however, of motor cars to answer in person inquiries from outlying districts has proved successful with the sales department.

WEDDING DATE SET FOR NEXT MONTH

The wedding date for the marriage of Miss Gladys H. Van Meter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bert Van Meter, to Clarence Pratt Shedd, has been set for August 1, at the home of the bride's parents, at 2119 Shattuck Ave., Berkeley. The bride is a graduate of the University of California and is very popular among her fellow students.

Shedd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shedd of Worcester, Mass. Following a short honeymoon through California the couple will return to the home of the bride's parents for a short visit preparatory to leaving for Worcester where they will make their future home.

TRIPS IN RACE AND FRACTURES HIS LEG

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Charles Fessler of 663 Clay street, with a party of friends, took a trip through the city light section last night. At 2 o'clock this morning as the crowd was crossing Potrero Avenue, Fessler was struck by a car and his leg was fractured. He was taken to the Harbor Emergency hospital.

HERO OF CIVIL WAR DIES AT SANTA CRUZ

SANTA CRUZ, July 25.—Col. A. G. Abbott, civil war hero, and well known horseman of this city, died here yesterday at the age of 74. He served in the Fourth Wisconsin Infantry early in the Civil War as a private and emerged at the end of the war as a lieutenant colonel. His previous service was won by signal bravery under fire. He was later promoted to Major, and then to Colonel. During the latter part of his life he was severely wounded in the shoulder.

SON TELEPHONE OF ESTRANGED PARENTS

NEW YORK, July 25.—Richard Benedict Johnson, 7-year-old son of Richard O. Johnson of New Rochelle, whose wife is suing him for separation, acted for three years as a human telephone between his estranged parents, according to testimony before Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum yesterday. The little boy knew nothing of the domestic storm and was the only means of communication other than by writing between the parents.

TORPEDO SUPPLY FAR TOO SMALL

Britten of Illinois Says Available Machines Number Only Seven Hundred.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Discovery that the torpedo-boat flotilla in case of war would virtually be useless after they had discharged seven hundred torpedoes has aroused Representative Britten of Illinois, Republican member of the House naval affairs committee. That number of torpedoes, according to Britten, is the sole stock on hand in the United States navy and the two factories which manufacture them can turn out only a limited number each year. Britten today announced his intention of introducing a bill appropriating $400,000 to double the capacity of the naval torpedo plant at Newport, R. I.

The Illinois member recently returned from a tour of inspection of with his fellow members of the House committee. He declared that of the stock of 700 torpedoes many are not new and that their replacement would be a serious problem in war time because of the limited capacity of the two producing plants, one of which is a private concern.

The navy's torpedo plant at Newport, Britten said, he discovered has a capacity of only 100 torpedoes a year. The private corporation, under contract to the navy, is turning out twice that number per annum. He pointed out that any depletion of the existing stock would necessitate high pressure work by both plants to provide even a limited number of torpedoes for the small craft and for torpedo tubes of the battleships and cruisers.

NOME TALKS OVER WIRELESS TO ASIA

Direct Communication Between Siberia and Alaska Has Been Established.

NOME, Alaska, July 25.—Direct wireless communication between America and Asia is now an accomplished fact, the United States army signal corps station here having been in nightly communication since Sunday with the Russian station at Anadyr, Siberia, 590 miles west of Nome.

Communication was established Sunday night and a message from Baron Kliest, governor of the Siberian province of Kamchatka, who visited Nome a short time ago, was transmitted, extending congratulations on the establishment of wireless communication between Asia and America.

The Russian government operates a chain of four stations between Anadyr and Vladivostok and for the last six months the signal corps operators here have been trying to establish communication with the Russian stations.

TACOMA, Wash., July 25.—Chief United States Forester Henry S. Graves has arrived in Tacoma unexpectedly. After a brief conference with Governor Lister regarding the opening of the Olympic monument reserve he left for New Mexico. Graves said he expected to return in September or October, when he hoped to bring Secretary of Agriculture Houston with him. Graves declined to say what his recommendation in regard to the reserve would be, but said he would take the matter up with the President immediately on his return to Washington.

WIFE THROUGHT TOO MUCH OF GAIETY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—If Mrs. Annie Fingold had not had an elder sister, she might not have been divorced yesterday by her husband, Alexander, who was given an interlocutory decree by Superior Judge Dunne. Fingold placed the entire blame for his wife's conduct upon her sister, who, he says, wrote her from Marquette, picturing the gaiety of the night life and singing heartily "Gaby Dale." Shortly afterwards, Fingold asserted, he saw his better half on the street, a little the worse for liquor, and since then has remained away from his home, 149 Dorland street.

MISS FLORA SIMAS.

The contest for a successful candidate to rule as queen over the five day carnival beginning August 24, to be held in West Oakland, under the auspices of the Italian-American league, is arousing much interest and six candidates have already entered the list. Their names are now engaged in a battle of ballots and a high vote is expected.

A ballot box has been placed in the Italian-American bank, Eighth and Broadway, and others will be placed at convenient points. Ballots can be obtained from George Ingraham, secretary of the general committee, at 812 Broadway, or from members of the queen committee, headed by S. T. Rubino.

SHOWS GRATITUDE TO EVANGELIST

Pittsburg Man, Whose Strayed Daughter Returns, Leaves Rescuer Legacy.

CHICAGO, July 25.—David L. S. Byrne, a Pittsburg evangelist, was in Chicago yesterday to establish his identity under the terms of the will that will make him a rich man. The legacy is given him because his prayer, uttered on bended knees in the rear of a Chicago saloon six years ago, turned back toward a Baltimore home a girl who had lost her way and restored her to her family.

The girl told the evangelist her name was Lucy Byrne and that her father was a well-to-do resident of Baltimore. The two had a long talk. At its close the girl assured the evangelist that she would go home. A few weeks later he received a letter from her father telling of his gratitude.

"I want to support your undertakings. Help other women as you have helped my girl. Go out among them and preach. I will stand by you. And because I feel so toward you I ask that you change your name to Byrne."

WIFE SHOT WITH BABE IN ARMS

Husband Didn't Know Gun Was Loaded; Held in Jail.

PETALUMA, July 25.—Mrs. Florence Blomman, nee Wilkinson, the young bride of a year of Walter Plowman, of this city, is at the general hospital suffering from a ghastly gunshot wound in the head, accidentally inflicted by her husband shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday. The bullet from an old style .25-caliber rifle entered the left cheek, struck a tooth, was deflected and shattered the roof of the woman's mouth. The mother was caressing her infant son at the time.

The husband was taken to Santa Rosa last evening after being turned over to the sheriff of this county, and will be kept at the county jail pending the result of the wound and further inquiry of the unfortunate affair.

He told with devotion, he was about to return to his work when he picked up the rifle and jokingly remarked, "I am going to shoot you," or words to that effect.

He stated that he had no idea that the gun was loaded, and does not remember pulling the trigger. The wife fell to the floor with blood streaming from her mouth and cheek. The husband picked her up and carried her to a chair in the bedroom, after which he called the neighbors and physicians. Immediately after the shooting Plowman exclaimed, "My God! what shall I do?" and the wife pointed to the next house, evidently wanting her husband to call in the neighbors.

Plowman stoutly maintained that there had not been any trouble, and that their domestic relations were pleasant, and that they had always got along nicely together. It is generally stated that the version given by the husband will not be accepted without a rigid investigation.

The husband is a member of Presidio Lodge, F. and A. M., of San Francisco, and is a brass moulder employed at a local foundry.

The couple were married in San Francisco, and they have an infant son, Walter, who is now being taken care of by neighbors and who was in the mother's arms when she was shot.

COVERED FACE NECK AND CHEST

Rescued by Poison Oak. Itched Until Nearly Crazy. Had to Walk Floor At Night. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Dryden, Ore.—"Traveling through the brush one day I was looking at and handling in both ways. When I got home I felt an itching and burning and the first thing I knew my face was all swollen up. The poison oak affected my face, hands, arms and chest and it disfigured me very much.
My face and neck were broken out and itched until I was nearly crazy. I had to walk the floor at night and lost much sleep and was very tired. I was covered with a heavy rash.
I could not allow clothing of any kind to touch the affected parts.

"I was told that—and—would relieve me but I got no relief. I used other remedies without success. It got to such a stage that if I hadn't gotten relief soon I would have died."

Another happened to have a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment in the house and I washed with the Cuticura Soap freely and then applied the Cuticura Ointment.
I got relief at the first application and when I slept like a child. In three weeks
I was perfectly cured." (Signed) E. H.
Dryden, Mar. 26, 1913.

RATE CASE WILL COME UP MONDAY

The East Oakland Protective League Wants Railroad to Reduce Fares.

ELMHURST, July 25.—The ten-cent rate case will come before the railroad commission in San Francisco next Monday. East Oakland Protective League, which took up the matter of cheaper rates, asks the commission to restrain the Southern Pacific Company from charging 15 cents from San Francisco to the city limits of Oakland, and want the rate fixed at 10 cents. This the Southern Pacific Company says they are not in a position to do. It is especially the desire of the Protective League that the 10-cent fare be in operation on the Melrose extension of the S. F. suburban electric service.

Final arrangements for supporting the case before the commission Monday were made at a meeting of the East Oakland Protective League in Elmhurst last night.
Representatives from the improvement clubs in the league will attend the hearing, and will act as witnesses.

trial, and this was fixed to take place in San Leandro, August 5.

Yuen was arrested by Detective Constantino, who states that the Chinese sold liquor without a license near the San Leandro powder works. The trial of the other men, Agostino Ignazio and A. Nommie, who were arrested by Constantino on charges of violating the liquor ordinance by selling liquor without a license, will probably be held about the same time as that of the Chinese.
Ignazio was freed on a $500 bond.

Lads Ready to Go Through Their Paces and Become Real Soldiers.

SAN LEANDRO, July 25.—San Leandro Company of Boy Scouts was formed at a meeting yesterday in the Justice of the Peace Court.

The movement here has been taken up by Frederick W. Wengert, who has had considerable army training, and should make a capable instructor for the boys. Wengert occupied the chair at the initial gathering of the scouts yesterday, and impressed upon the boys

the importance of the scout company here should be strong in membership, and the boys have shown themselves eager and willing to learn scoutcraft.

Word is awaited from the head of the Scout Commission in New York, recognizing the local company as a unit of the Scout force, and steps will be taken to set the company on a proper footing.

Twenty-four San Leandro boys have signed up so far, and Wengert, who will act as Scoutmaster, is confident of obtaining a new member for the company.

Scoutmaster Wengert, a bright San Leandro boy, was appointed temporary patrol leader yesterday, and will help Scoutmaster Wengert to put the scouts through their paces. The following are among the boys who intend to join the local company: A. E. Fulton, J.
W. Ginn, Paul P. Michael, Henry Jones,

CENSORS' REPORT GIVEN TO MAYOR AND PUBLIC

Contents Has Been Held Back for Some Times and Pointed

The report of the recently defunct Public Welfare and Censorship Commission, submitted to Mayor Frank K. Mott a month ago, was made public today. The commission, which was organized by the city administration, has been held back for some time and pointed out the contents of the report.

The report deals with saloons and cafes, the social evil, the Oakland High school, public dances, and "ragging," the enforcement of law by the police department and other matters, but of the most part generalities are indulged in.

Commissioner Turner is declared to be a "gentleman of high character," who will insist on the enforcement of the law when advised of its violation," while Petersen is highly praised as an efficient chief of police.

an urgent recommendation that "a permanent commission be created, with police authority and headquarters in the new city hall."

THOSE ON COMMISSION.

The commission was composed of T. C. Barnard, who is a non-resident of Oakland; Dr. Susan J. Fenton, R. B. Gaylord, Dr. N. H. Chamberlain and Miss Bessie J. Wood. It was created in August a year ago, and its report of "moral and social conditions in Oakland" is contained in 120 pages of close typewritten manuscript.

The recommendations made are designated by Mayor Frank K. Mott as some good, some impracticable, and some of a kind that would make Oakland an unsafe place to live in.

"We will take the matter up on conference, and will decide as to the putting into effect of many of these recommendations," said Mayor Frank K. Mott. "I have read and re-read the report several times. Now it is in the hands of Chief of Police Petersen. I believe that the commission has done good and faithful work, and that the members deserve the thanks of the city."

The prohibition of the sale of liquor in the segregated district, the strict supervision of the dance halls, the gradual elimination of all saloons from the residence districts, the prohibition of the sale of liquor to women in restaurants excepting with bona fide meals, and other drastic regulations are recommended.

REPORTS SIDELIGHT.

The sidelight on the temper of the commission is given by the report that several women of the segregated district live in rooming houses outside the district, and the recommendation that this practice be abolished and the women kept within the district so long as the policy of segregation is maintained.

The members of the commission visited houses in the segregated district, and questioned the inmates. They made a study of the causes of the social evil in Oakland, and pointed to the fact that there is no segregated district in Berkeley or Alameda. Among other statements made concerning this matter, the report declares that Oakland cannot be considered as a seaport city, as the patronage of the segregated district, instead of being confined to sailors and soldiers, is drawn largely from "married men and college students."

Excerpts from the report follow:

"Oakland has enjoyed for many years the distinction of being one of the best governed cities in the Pacific coast, if not of the United States. This was due primarily to the high standard of citizenship, to a widespread interest in public affairs and to the strong influence of various large organizations interested in public service and law enforcement. Public officials have kept out of the city such demoralizing institutions as the Barbary Coast and so-called French restaurants with hotel accommodations attached and have eliminated some of the worst features of city life.

"The commission has been experienced a phenomenal growth in population during the past decade, representing the best type of citizens, who have brought to this city the beauty of the location, educational and business advantages, but particularly by the assurance of securing an environment for their children, that is both wholesome and helpful. It is interesting to note that the increase in population from 1900 to 1910 was $3,214, or 125 per cent over the population of 1900.

LAW ENFORCEMENT.

"We had the assurance of public officials that they welcome the co-operation of private citizens or organizations to any effort to improve conditions, as an offset to the continual activity of the vicious element in endeavoring to secure a lax enforcement of the law.

"The responsibility for either a strict and vigorous enforcement of a law, half-hearted enforcement rests on the shoulders of the community, public health and safety and the chief of police.

"The present commissioner of public health and safety is a gentleman of high character and will insist upon the enforcement of the law when advised of its violation, but is not acquainted with actual conditions, consequently the responsibility for the enforcement of ordinances now rests with the chief of police.

PRASE POLICE CHIEF.

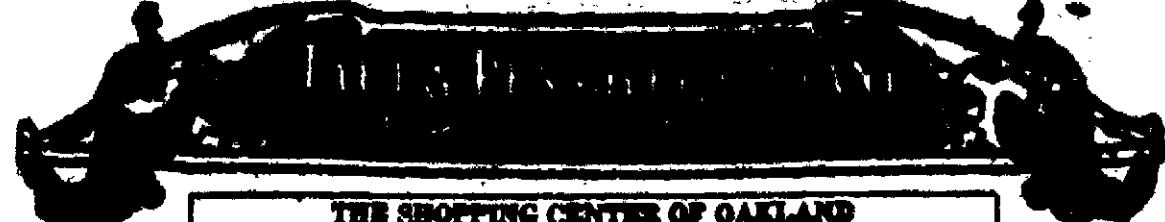

"Oakland is fortunate in having a chief of police who is an experienced, forceful man of character and achievement, who has made several sweeping reforms, denounced by an awakened public conscience during the first few months in his tenure of office. His years of service in the Oakland police department have given him a personal knowledge of the ability and private character of every man on the force as all violations and demoralizing influences at work in the city. We believe that under his direction there will be a gradual improvement in the personnel of the police department and a vigorous enforcement of those ordinances recently adopted for the protection of young people.

"A close study of the past and present situation discloses either a laxity or a failure on the part of higher officials to prosecute such offenders.

WANT PLAYGROUNDS.

The commission recommends that playgrounds or park space be assigned to the Oakland high school pupils, either at Chabot Park or a portion of the father property until the removal of the school, because of the presence of theaters, lodging houses of questionable character, and saloons in the vicinity.

METHODIST BAY AT MT. HERMON

Mrs. A. J. Hanson of Berkeley Presided at Wednesday's Rally.

Wednesday, afternoon, July 23, was the time of the "rally" of the Methodists at Mount Hermon. This rally was held in the Mission building, was presided over by Mrs. A. J. Hanson of Berkeley, California, conference superintendent of children's work. Her husband, Rev. A. J. Hanson, is corresponding secretary of the Methodist conference for city missions in Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley.

Mrs. John Stevens of San Francisco, secretary of the Methodist Deaconess work of the Pacific Coast, was the first speaker of the "rally." The deaconess work was established about twenty-five years ago.

The next two speakers were young deaconesses, Miss Leona Osterhout, deaconess of the San Francisco First Methodist church, and Miss Lillian Davis, deaconess of the Berkeley church. They spoke of the work of the deaconesses among the poor of San Francisco, and who told us touching stories of the work of the deaconesses in the home.

Dr. J. C. Davidson, for twenty years a Methodist missionary to Japan, then spoke. When Dr. and Mrs. Davidson and his youngest sister and her husband went out to Japan in 1872, that land had not long been open to foreigners. Now, ninety-eight per cent of the Japanese people can read newspapers. Even the Japanese children, between fares, will be found studying and learning to read.

When Dr. and Mrs. Davidson would come to break their Japanese work would have read the native newspapers, and would be able to tell the Davidsons the news from all over the world. One morning the cook announced, "Why, San Francisco is all in a heap and the debris is burning!" Such an earthquake Japan has never known.

Toward the end of the rally Mrs. Carlisle B. Oliver of Oakland read a beautiful original poem entitled, "My Sister," contrasting the lot of the heathen and the Chinese woman.

Wednesday evening Dr. J. C. Davidson of Japan spoke again in the auditorium, his delightful address being illustrated by many "reception views of Japan." Dr. Davidson also sang the Japanese national hymn.

OVERLAND TRAINS DELAYED BY SLIDE

OGDEN, Utah, July 25.—All trains on the Southern Pacific were tied up for twenty-four hours ending at midnight last night by a landslide in a cut near Battle Mountain, Nev., which was caused by the heavy rains of Wednesday afternoon and evening. All of Wednesday's trains from the coast were canceled and the mail train which arrived at midnight was made up of three fast mail trains stalled before the washout at Colomada several hours before the landslide.

MERCHANT OF VENICE BARRED FROM SCHOOLS

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—"The Merchant of Venice" was excluded yesterday from the Los Angeles public schools. The exclusion was ordered by the Board of Education's committee on courses of study, acting upon the recommendation of J. H. Francis, school superintendent. "I do not believe," said Superintendent Francis, "that 'The Merchant of Venice' correctly portrays the character of the Jew. There are many fine traits of Jewish character that are not brought out in Shakespeare's play."

Seattle's Czar.

Mayor Cotterill of Seattle appears to have an extraordinary idea of the powers of his office and an equally extraordinary conception of the right of free speech. One can say what he pleases if the mayor agrees with him, but nothing at all contrary to the mayor's opinions.

Mayor Cotterill allowed the I. W. W. to hold mass meetings in the streets in violation of the municipal ordinances and denounce the government of the United States, the flag of our country, the laws of the land and the courts. "Let them say what they please when and where they please," said the mayor, "they are only exercising the right of free speech."

But when the Seattle Times denounced the unlawful assemblages and sharply criticized the mayor for permitting them, the mayor suddenly changed his tune. He said the Times was preaching disturbance and he ordered it to suspend publication.

The champion of free speech suddenly became a suppressor of free speech. From approving a disorderly violation of the local ordinances he turned his attention to an attempt to deprive the publisher of the Times of a fundamental right guaranteed him by the Federal Constitution. He sent his police to stop the publication of the Times, and was only restrained from carrying out his arbitrary will by a court order.

A little other authority seems to have turned the mayor's head. He seems to think he is a czar, with power to make and abrogate laws at his pleasure. His whim is the measure of free speech, and his decrees supersede constitutional rights. Sworn to uphold and enforce the laws, he tramples the law under foot and would defy the courts if he dared. He presumes to say that a newspaper shall print only what he approves and makes the police force an instrument of tyranny.

Mayor Cotterill is too progressive by half. The petty despotism he tried to establish illustrates the kind of government some people desire to establish when they say, "Let the people rule."

President Wilson was right when he said "the fight for good government is never ending." But in a sense his remark is a paraphrase of the aphorism, "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." Liberty is at the base of all good government—the freedom of the individual and the right to cherish and express his opinions without hindrance. Government rests primarily on the consent of the governed, and save where small political divisions are ruled by external force bad government is possible only when people submit to it. Government is an utility, not an abstraction. It should be shaped to meet conditions and further ends in accordance with the genius and habit of thought of a people. Therefore different kinds of government are required for different kinds of people. In any event, it must reflect the intelligence and morality of a people—beyond these it can never get. Educate the masses and elevate the standard of morals and better government will follow as a natural consequence. A people trained to habits of efficiency will not tolerate inefficient government, and the morals of the official class can never fall far below the average of morality in private life, though frequently rising above it. But it requires a constant struggle if government is to keep pace with the advance of civilization. It is often confusing to find cranks, visionaries, empirics, pretenders and charlatans leading the advance, but it does not follow that there is no desire to progress because the mass refuses to follow a distrustful leadership into new and untried paths. Conservatism is but another name for caution and deliberation, without which it would be impossible to advance in safety.

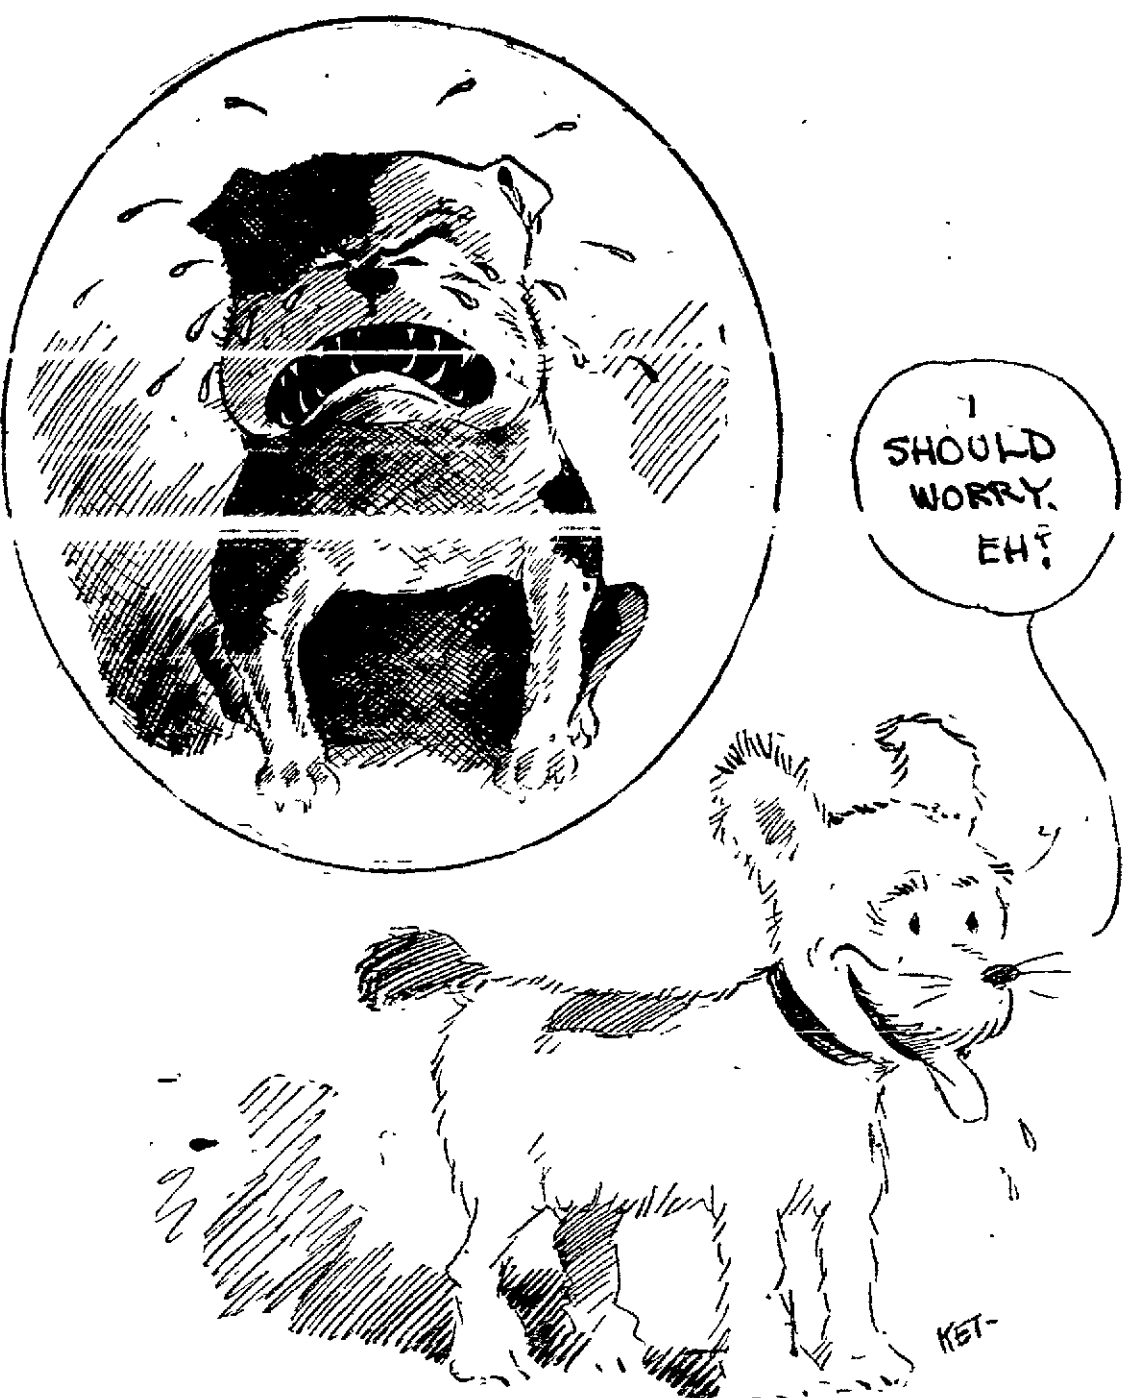

How Oakland's Growth Affects Its Schools.

Oakland's retail wholesale and manufacturing district is growing so fast that population is being crowded north of Twenty-fifth street and east of the north arm of the estuary. This shifting of the population is producing a marked effect on several of the public schools in the southwestern section of the city, and it is already plain that the buildings and the lots on which they stand will in a few years hence become unsuited for educational purposes. When that point is reached these properties must be sold by the department and turned to commercial uses. Changes of this character are inevitable in a growing community in its educational as well as in its religious interests. Oakland has already witnessed the translation of several of its churches following the absorption of old-time residential districts by business, and others are preparing to move as the only alternative of retaining their existence.

The Oakland High is the first public school building to yield to the new conditions. The expansion of the central retail district has destroyed the structure's utility for educational purposes, business having practically engulfed it. Manufacturing and wholesale warehousing have driven the families which formerly patronized Harrison Primary School into other parts of the city to live. Only a few children now remain in the district. The school building is, therefore, becoming dead property on the hands of the department. In a certain sense it is actually interfering with the drift of development in the wholesale district, just as the Oakland High School building is blocking the westward trend of the retail business district. Like the latter, the Harrison Primary School property will soon have to be sold and surrendered to business uses.

For similar reasons as are affecting the two public school buildings named, it will not be many years, according to present appearances, before the Tompkins Grammar, on Fifth and Adams; Grove Street Primary, on Grove and Fifth, and Lincoln Grammar, on Alice, between Tenth and Eleventh, will have to be sold. And the shadow of a similar fate is beginning to fall on Lafayette and Durant schools, each of which is located in a business district. The business is invading as the result of Oakland's growth and prosperity. In fact greater changes in Oakland than have taken place since 1906 are already taking place, and it is immediately following the opening of the new school year that many of the school properties of the city—the action caused by the Mexico, Europe and the United States.

For the third or fourth time the German Foreign Office denies that Germany has called upon the United States to restore order in Mexico. Periodically the statement is sent out from Washington that the great powers of Europe, or some one of them, have called on Uncle Sam to stick a mailed fist into the Mexican trouble. Prompt denial follows in every instance. Apparently the European chancelleries understand the situation and have no disposition to push the United States to extremity. Our government is, of course, engaged to protect the lives and property of foreigners resident in Mexico. The integrity of the Monroe Doctrine commits us to this.

But the American Government is not responsible for damages inflicted on the property of foreigners in Mexico, nor for such personal injuries to foreigners. It can only force the Mexican Government to make compensation, which is quite a different thing from sending troops into the country and taking charge of the administration of affairs. To do that would be in effect an act of conquest; at least, it would be so regarded in Mexico and by Europe. All factions would unite in opposing the authority of the United States, and a war of pacification would result that might be prolonged for years and keep this country entangled with the internal affairs of Mexico for an indefinite period.

The situation in Mexico is admittedly bad, but the alternative of intervention would be worse for the United States and would give small promise of immediate relief for foreign capital employed in Mexico. Commerce and industry languish at present, but the application of external force would make the lives and property of foreigners more insecure than they are now, for a time at least. No foreigner outside the protection of American troops would be safe. There would be massacres and confiscations, and a legacy of adjustment would be entailed that would require many years to complete.

Our government cannot undertake to establish a stable government. From the time of Hidalgo's rebellion Mexico was a chronic state of disturbance till Porfirio Diaz assumed the reins of power. The only period of peace and prosperous development Mexico has seen since her separation from Spain was when Diaz ruled with a strong hand. With the retirement of Diaz from power came the old order of insurrection and internecine conflict. While the situation has changed in the last three years, the condition is not different now from what it was prior to the accession of Diaz to the Presidency. However, the encouragement given by Diaz for foreigners to settle and invest in Mexico has given a new aspect to a condition which formerly affected Mexicans exclusively.

The problem of dealing with Mexico should not be made more difficult by querulous fault-finding and false rumors which place foreigners in Mexico in greater peril than they now are. Both the policy of the government and the situation are an inheritance for the Wilson administration. The situation has become rather more acute, but intervention is not more necessary now than it was a year ago. And the United States should not intervene by force of arms till intervention is absolutely necessary. Once we send soldiers across the Rio Grande no man can foretell when we can draw them back. We do not want to annex Mexico or undertake the government of the country. The only thing to do, therefore, is to continue the policy of patient forbearance which Taft inaugurated and Wilson has thus far pursued. This policy should not be abandoned till the European powers agree not to support a hostile Mexican government.

20 YEARS AGO IN OAKLAND

The counter affidavits issued by the Southern Pacific in answer to those of the city in regard to the Broadway wharf lawsuit have been stricken out by Justice McKenna, before whom the case is being heard. Title to the property is expected to be awarded in a few days. The city is confident of success.

The Lawrence company is contemplating the building of another passenger boat for lay service, alternating with the Rosalie in hour service.

Crops in the Northwest have been seriously damaged by the extreme heat, wheat and potatoes suffering especially.

It is rumored that the Southern Pacific will purchase the East Oakland street railroad from the present owners and extend the line far out into the country. Highland Park and Fruitvale, it is said, will especially profit by the extension.

It is estimated that there are 8000 destitute people in Denver, made so by the present money panic. Measures will be taken at once by Colorado authorities to relieve the suffering of these people.

Principal Harmes of the Persalta school has returned from his vacation.

Professor Christie and Reuben Richard are en route to the World's Fair.

City Trustee D. L. Randolph of Alameda and family have returned from a delightful vacation spent in the Yosemite. They drove to and from the park.

Mrs. M. A. Freese, who has been visiting in the East for a year, has returned. The concrete work on the new Sixth ward school house will be tested by two experts, Professor E. C. O'Neill of the University chemistry department and Professor Price, the San Francisco mineralogist.

A petition has been introduced whereby the City Council is asked to stop the sprinkling of streets on Sunday because of the fact that it is the Sabbath and that the city would save $7000 a year if all sprinkling operations were omitted on the first day of the week.

GIRAFFE LOVED TURTLE

It is a sad, sad story, and the details will never be known—how the giraffe at the Jardin des Plantes, the Paris zoo, committed suicide.

This giraffe, who held the record in her class for height, was a neurotic. The attendance book at the zoo tells us that she looked troubled. She stood in her front yard waving her long neck from side to side, her eyes in the clouds. Then she dashed her head against the side of her house, causing concussion of the brain.

The commissary of police was notified of her death and he opened an investigation. What were the reasons for suicide? She was of high standing, 14 meters high, was not involved in the troubles of married life for the simple reason that she was not married. Perhaps, however, she was in love.

When the commissary came to this question he felt sure he was on the right track. From the book he learned that the giraffe some time previously had fallen in love with a turtle. The turtle, however, was a very small creature, and the giraffe, being a very tall creature, had to stoop to make eyes at the turtle, but he seemingly paid no attention to her. The turtle seemed to think there was an inseparable distance between them. The inquest was ended and it only remained for the commissary to notify the family of the deceased.—New York Sun.

LAD HAS PERILOUS RIDE ON ENGINE TENDER

SPENDS HARROWING NIGHT IN WILD RACE OVER RAILS

Boy Carried Out of Stockton on an Engine Has Fearful Ride to Oakland

WHILE playing with a boy companion "stealing" rides on a freight engine in the railroad yards in Stockton last evening, Leslie Capps, 15 years of age, was suddenly carried out of the yards by one of the engines at such a rate of speed that he could not leap to the ground. The engine swung away on the track down the valley, with the boy a frightened, hatless and coatless prisoner on the tender. The boy had no idea where the engine was going, but he clung to its perilous perch desperately, only raising his head from time to time and getting his eyes filled with cinders and his face lashed by the blast from the smokestack for his pains. He then crouched down against the pilot of the swaying engine and gripped his hands around a stanchion.

Hour after hour the engine leaped forward on its steel roadway. The night grew cold, and at one time the boy almost fell asleep from weariness. When he tried shouting for aid, but his voice was drowned by the rattle of the engine and the sound of the machinery.

The engine swung into the Oakland yard shortly after 3 o'clock this morning. A tired and worried boy dropped from the pilot of the engine and made his way out of the yards.

Patrolman Oakes found young Capps and placed him under arrest on suspicion of being a runaway.

"Where am I?" asked the boy. Oakes told him he was in Oakland. The boy was black with soot and cinders from head to foot. The policeman took him to the central station where he was given a wash and some hot coffee and a place to sleep.

The boy remembered that he had a cousin, Lester J. Capps, living in Oakland, and Capps was notified at his home. Capps was told that his cousin was in the hospital and that he was very ill.

No more joy riding for mine," declared Leslie as he left the police station this morning.

LAMAR TO RESIST 'WOLF' IS OBDRATE

HERE IS DAVID LAMAR, "THE WOLF OF WALL STREET" WHO HAS BEEN INDICTED BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—An attempt to remove David Lamar, the "wolf of Wall street," from the jurisdiction of the District of Columbia will be resisted, according to Lamar's attorney, Henry E. David, who expected efforts would be made today to serve warrants on his client based on the indictment found by a federal grand jury in New York. Lamar, who testified before the senate "lobby" investigating committee, recently, that he had impersonated public men in telephone conversations in his Wall street campaigns, was indicted for "impersonating an officer of the government for purposes of fraud."

Attorney David declared the warrant would be resisted, for at the present time it would be inconvenient for his client to go to New York. "I have heard that the warrant was to be served today," he said. "I do not know personally what is in the indictment against Lamar, for despite my efforts to obtain a copy of the true bill I have been denied that privilege. My client is ready to appear before United States Commissioner Taylor here, but he will fight any attempt to remove him from Washington at this time."

Lamar has been living in a downtown hotel since he gave his testimony to the senate committee.

STEALS OWN WIFE WITH STAGE MAKEUP

Induces Own Mother-in-Law to Take Him as Lodger.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Concealing his features with the aid of grease paint and with whiskers, and with a limp and a cane to aid the deception, William C. Corcoran succeeded in inducing his mother-in-law to accept him as a lodger after his bride had been surreptitiously torn from his arms. Then, with the aid of a rope, he took his wife out of the house via the balcony. Corcoran runs a candy store at Fillmore and Hayes street, and his bride, who was Miss Marham, resided with her mother, who runs a lodging-house at 1818 O'Farrell street. Fortune did not smile on the match and so they hid themselves to Oakland, July 2, and were wedded by a justice of the peace. One day when Corcoran returned from lunch he found his wife, who worked in the candy store, gone. He realized that she had been taken away by her mother and so they hid themselves in the house and slid down the rope. Yesterday, however, Corcoran was arrested on a warrant charging forgery because he had sworn that his bride's age was 18, whereas her mother says she is but 16.

CURRENCY BILL HAS WILSON

President Endeavors to Reconcile Differences of Opinion Among Democrats

Spends Most of Forenoon With Rep. Wingo, Who Opposes Features.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—President Wilson endeavored today to reconcile differences of opinion among Democrats of the house banking on the administration currency bill. It seemed that the administration supporters would make an effort to have their bill reported soon with a hope that the fight on amendments would be settled in the Democratic caucus.

The President spent most of the forenoon with Representative Wingo of Arkansas one of those opposed to certain features of the bill.

The Democrats certainly can and will get together on a bill before long," said Wingo after the conference.

Administration officials were optimistic that differences would be adjusted.

It was learned today that the President regards it as inexpedient to incorporate in the bill the findings of the two money trust committee and that he had pointed out the necessity for keeping recommendations based on these findings separate.

Chairman Wingo of the senate banking committee said today that on a personal poll of senate Democrats he had found forty-seven who favored having the currency reform of the present session and two who favored a recess of Congress and postponement of action till fall. Two Democrats were absent and not included. Senator Owen said he had also found six Republicans who favored immediate action.

Kil'd by Electric Shock at Initiation

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 25.—Donald A. Kenney, a chauffeur, and Christopher Gastin, an iron moulder, were killed last night by an electric shock at the local hall of a fraternal order.

An initiation was in progress and it is said that an electric shock was a part of the ceremony. In some way not yet explained Kenney and Gastin, it is stated, received too much current.

It was at first thought the two men had fainted and they were hurried to a hospital where both died shortly afterwards.

Lodge officials have made no statement regarding the affair.

Honor Founder of House of Astor

BERLIN, July 25.—The memory of John Jacob Astor, founder of the great Astor fortune, is being honored in Wallford, near Heidelberg, Germany. The little town is enfeited in commemoration of his birth there just 130 years ago.

He was the fourth son of a butcher and worked in his father's shop in Wallford until he was 15 years old. In 1783 he went to America and started in the furniture business, which was the source of his fortune. He remembered his birthplace by establishing a house here the foundation of which William Waldorf Astor of London has just increased by a gift of $12,500,000.

MARBLEHEAD TO DOCK AT MARE ISLAND YARD

VALLEJO, July 25.—The cruiser Marblehead, the property of the California Naval Reserve, will be docked at Mare Island this fall, probably some time in September. Job orders have been issued here relating to this work.

The last of the bullet-proof steel plates to be used in the construction of the gunboats Monocacy and Pios have arrived at this yard and nothing can now delay the early completion of both vessels.

Reports received at this yard from the cruiser Maryland is that the vessel is now at Seward and that the coal tests have been practically completed. The ship will return to this coast the middle of next month and will go into dry dock.

CROSS-TOWN STREET SERVICE S. P. PLAN

To Stop at All Crossings Between Oakland and Alameda.

Cross-town street car service, with stops at every crossing, will be inaugurated between Oakland and Alameda by the Southern Pacific Company on August 1, according to an announcement made today by J. C. McPherson, superintendent of the suburban lines. Cars will run every ten minutes between Oakland and Alameda. The route to be followed is from Sixteenth street station in Oakland over the Eighteenth street line to Fourteenth and Franklin, thence along Webster street, across the Harrison street bridge, to Mastick junction in Alameda. From Mastick junction cars will run up Lincoln avenue to Lincoln junction and return via Enchil avenue and Eighth street to Oakland.

TIME TABLE. The first car is to leave Sixteenth street at 6 a. m. and after that every ten minutes to 9 p. m. Alternate cars beginning at 6 a. m. will go through to Alameda. Later than 9 p. m. cars will be at twenty-minute intervals, running through. The first car will leave Lincoln junction at 5 55 a. m. and thereafter at 12, 35 and 55 minutes after the hour up to midnight. The cars will leave Fourteenth and Franklin streets for Sixteenth street every ten minutes until 9 15 p. m., then every twenty minutes to 11 15 p. m. The last car will leave Sixteenth street for Alameda at 1 05 a. m. This gives later service between Alameda, the heart of Oakland and West Oakland than is offered by any other system.

The running time from Sixteenth street to Lincoln junction on the long side of the loop is 49 minutes. The return by the short side is about 25 minutes. Passengers are carried from the center of Oakland to Lincoln junction in Alameda in 37 minutes.

SPECIAL CARS. The cars to be used are of a special type built expressly for Southern Pacific specifications for this service. They are lighter than the regular ferry coach, but larger than a large street car. The doors are in the center of the side, affording easy ingress and egress. They have been refitted and fully equipped at the Alameda plant car shops and are now ready for immediate use. On the inside and outside glass trimmings being cleaned and polished.

A 5-cent fare will be charged. They will bear a disk designating them as cross-town line cars.

The franchise for the Eighteenth street line was granted at the same time that the franchises were granted for the Alameda ferry lines. The franchises were laid as soon as the main ferry loop was completed, but no effort was made to start the service until the ferry lines were running smoothly. Then the special coaches were ordered and finally reached Alameda. A transit showed that the trucks were tendency to climb the heavy switch rails, the cars being much lighter than the ferry coaches and the switch rails being of 30-pound steel. The light trucks were dismantled and heavier rolling equipment was built for order and set under the cars. A signal tower to keep ferry and cross-town lines from getting mixed was built at Eighth street and Central avenue, and the last piece of work, just completed this week, was the construction of a controlling station, now located at Eighth street and Central avenue. The done is the work against the new ferry line, to complete the new ferry line.

Lapley McAfee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Berkeley, read the service. The attractive young bride was given away by her brother, Roy Robinson Gray.

Janet Jones, who was the maid of honor; Miss Violet Clark, bridesmaid; and Little Mary Kitchner, a cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. Frank Harris was the best man for Gray.

In a cream-colored charming gown made with a court train, Miss Ruthertford was a picture. The bride was made of white tulle.

Immediately after the ceremony a supper was served. The table decorations consisted of sweet peas and ferns artistically arranged, carrying out the color scheme of the bride's attire which was a mass of pink and white flowers.

"Goose Flesh" as a Shock Absorber

By LILLIAN RUSSELL

(Copyrighted, 1914, by Lillian Russell.)

HAVE you ever experienced a terrible fright which "made the hair stand on end"? Or, having been fortunate enough to escape such circumstances, have you ever heard a shrill, rasping noise which caused "goose flesh" to appear on the arms? And still one more question—has it ever occurred to you that nature had some specific purpose in forming "goose flesh" and that the physical process is one with a definite end?

"Goose flesh" is the shock absorber of the body. It is from the scalp assuming the same condition known as "goose flesh."

The entire body is covered with minute hairs, in some cases so fine and delicate that they can only be seen with a magnifying glass. At the roots of these hairs are minute muscles, which contract or expand under external or nervous influences.

If you leap into a tub of cold water or into a cold bath when the water is at low temperature goose flesh will appear. This means simply that there has been a nervous shock from low temperature and the nerves cause the tiny muscles at the base of the hairs to expand.

This action closes the pores—and there you are. What was considered only an effect is in reality the body shutting the doors against low temperature, which is injurious.

The nervous system controlling these small muscles is sensitive to all shocks. be it a cold plunge, a draft of cool air or sudden changes in temperature. When goose flesh appears it should be accepted not altogether as an effect, but as a warning the body is being subjected to harsh treatment, hence the calling into action of the tiniest muscles.

Other kinds of shocks, more serious than hot or cold water, cause the same action of the skin. Sudden mental shocks, of fear or shame or even the ecstasy of music, will temporarily unstring the nervous system, causing the pores to open and close. The changing temperature causes the alternate waves of hot and cold which are felt.

The lesson is this—should study this appearance of goose flesh with regard to the bath, exercise, the drafts in rooms, etc., and where it is oft repeated it must be realized that something is wrong.

If the water of the bath repeatedly causes goose flesh then it is shocking the nervous system and the temperature should be adjusted. When the cold plunge cannot be taken without the skin becoming dotted then it is not doing the body any good. It is, rather, doing harm, else the danger signal—goose flesh—would not appear. Take a tepid bath, and when the nervous system is accustomed to the shock the temperature can gradually be decreased.

As to the shock of fear, of hearing unpleasant things, of dread, they are wearing on life itself and should be avoided. Unquestionably one of the greatest enemies which strikes directly at the nervous system is sudden noises, and in years to come the effort to prevent unnecessary noises will be genuine and general.

Remember: When the body calls into action tens of thousands of muscles as shock absorbers we must respect and prevent too much wear upon these helpless muscles.

Answers to Queries

MISS A. V. L.—I am so sorry, but it takes at least a week, and sometimes two weeks, before an answer to a query can be published in my columns. I have never heard of darkening the skin to get rid of freckles. Of course, if you would do this I would cover up the freckles, but I am sure you would not want a skin that looked as if it was covered with freckles. The best way to get rid of them is by bleaching them. I should be glad to send you a formula for a French bleach for freckles if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope. I cannot give you any information about the article you mention. Do not ruin the lovely color of your hair by trying to darken it. I think there is nothing more beautiful than red hair, and by changing the color you would ruin it, making it brittle and streaked, and causing it to break off at the ends. It would be difficult for you to keep your hair one shade, for in a few days it would turn light at the roots and get streaked, and what is more horrible than hair streaked with dye?

L. A.—Too much oil in the skin will make the face look shiny and ungroomed, despite the most vigorous use of powder. Practically the only cure for this trouble is a careful diet. Fruits, salads and fresh vegetables must be substituted for pastries and sweets, and all rich meats, like pork and beef, must be tabooed. Coarse powders are bad for an oily skin, particularly talcum powder.

side individualized. The slit of the right side was of the usual shape, but it ran up about a third of the distance between the knee and the waist line, with the bottom end about twenty inches wide. This long, wide gap was filled in with the thinnest, chiffron chiffon of the same vivid purple. Through it could be seen plainly the two legs, all there were. On the right leg, above the knee, a gold scarer buckle caught a bunch of sunbeams which tumbled joyously with the shimmering purple.

Then, as the woman turned and walked away, a guest whispered to her companion:

"Ah, San Francisco, a cosmopolitan! Soon will the 5 o'clock tea be popular with messieurs."

ONLY BLOOMERS FOR BATHING SUITS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 25.—According to a rule established here today, feminine bathers who disport in the surf must wear bathing suits with a bloomer effect. They may appear on the beach in the most exaggerated abbreviated skirts, but there is no objection if the skirt is slashed anywhere from the ankle up, but the bloomer idea must prevail in feminine garb if the wearer desires to take her dip. The new rule also prohibits girls exceeding the 16-year limit from tripping about the sand without stockings. The action of the city authorities was upheld by the department of public safety and the new bathing order was made permanent.

ARRAIGNED FOR MURDER

MRS. DE VALLE FLINCHES

Evidence Corroborates Confession Recently Made to Sheriff.

Visibly flinching as the judge read the charges against her, and becoming hysterical with grief and fright, Mrs. Mary De Valle, self-made widow of Manuel De Valle, killed at the One Mile Ranch in Alameda county, was arraigned yesterday at Centerville for her husband's murder and is held for preliminary examination. She was excused from taking the stand, July 30 is set as the date of examination.

The evidence was brought out as formerly published. The coroner's jury at the inquest decided that the man met his death by a bullet fired by his wife. The misstatement of the woman by her husband, his drunken carousing, and his confession to Sheriff Barnett were reviewed. It was then shown to Judge J. E. Wainwright, who made the arraignment, that she had been tried by a jury, and later took refuge in a hay stack.

Sarah Johnson, a promiscuous, according to physicians, declared in Judge Donahue's juvenile court yesterday that she had seen Mrs. De Valle in three houses in East Oakland.

Dr. J. H. Hill, who examined the girl, declared that her mental malady is curable. "Her nerves are in a peculiar condition from some toxic poison," he said, "generated in her own body. This can be overcome in a few years." The girl was remanded to her care for treatment. She is 15 years of age.

Bertha Stoss, a 16-year-old girl, was brought before the court, suffering from severe trouble, her mother refused to have her treated and explained to the mother her daughter's danger.

APPRaises LOVE LETTERS AT $5

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Ten love letters, and valued at only $5, will be the chief exhibit in a robbery trial to be heard by Judge Shortall. Usually the ardently couched missives are considered priceless by the recipients, especially when they are in the dearest handwriting of a pretty girl. Nevertheless the value placed upon them in this case is just $5. William F. Schaefer, of 145 Geary street, is the man who claims the letters, and Harvey G. Langlais is the man who is accused of robbing him of them. Behind and beneath the trouble and the issuance of the warrant by Judge Shortall for a woman's name is the story of a girl to whom both were paying attention. So far the name of the young woman is not known.

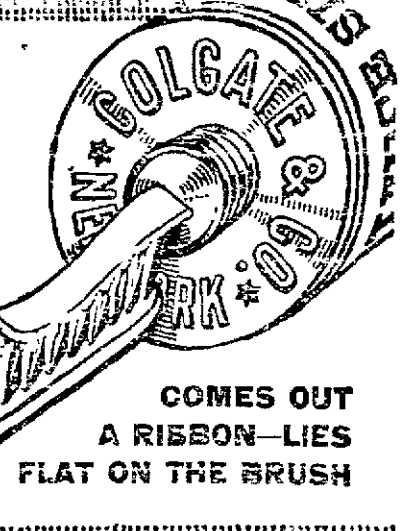

Detective Rehl is said to know it, but he will not promise to tell it until he has been paid $100. Langlais will be apprehended. Schaefer asserts that Langlais took the ten letters from him at the point of a pistol.

Ah! There's the rub!

The rubber's the rub, so we did away with the rubber—

It doesn't take a whole lot of preaching to prove to any of you that rubber rots because all of us, old and young alike, have had practical, actual experience with the performance of rubber in some shape or other—over-shoes rubber bands, auto-tires, garden hose—or some such way and we know that rubber

Wouldn't it be a shame to invest several hundred dollars in a Player-Piano that you justly expected to get a lifetime of service out of, and then have the rubber tubes rot out of it? Just like putting a dollar watch movement in a solid gold case.

The Autopiano Player-Piano in addition to being the superior of all other Player-Pianos in tone and intelligent interpretation of your favorite selections without following a lot of impossible lines with so-called expression levers, possesses the one dominant, essential factor—METAL TUBES—which cannot rot—cannot rust (because made of a lead composition) and are for these reasons PERMANENT.

A salesman for one of the old-time high-price charging houses still selling the obsolete rubber tubed player, (because they have them on hand we presume) advanced the argument in his helplessness, that metal tubes made your tone metallic. It made us smile, and will make anyone smile who stops to think about it. The air going through the tubes causes a valve to close which in turn throws the piano hammer against the string, causing the note to be struck. As to the method employed to convey the air to the valve to move the hammer having any bearing on the tone produced, the very idea is so absurd as to be amusing—A drowning man will grasp at a straw and we actually feel sorry for the unfortunate dealers loaded up with rubber tubed Player-Pianos.

Our fourth shipment of genuine Autopiano Player-Pianos with metal tubes—latest styles in cases and finish have just been received. Someone has suggested we call this our "Warfare Sale," our price on the $700.00 variety is $457.00, and we claim it superior to any Player-Piano to be had elsewhere at $700.00, you to be the judge—$457.00 for a lifetime guaranteed Player-Piano—think of it!

USE RED PEPPER IN THEATER WAR

Moving Picture House Now Held Under Armed Truce by Contestants.

Red pepper was used in the fight between the two factions of the owners of the Lyric and Oakland photo play theaters yesterday afternoon. Emme Keir-John was in possession of the Lyric theater in Broadway, and an attack upon the Lyric was made by the two other partners, Fred Dabney and J. T. Turner.

lead by other attorney, Philip Walsh. Armed with injunctions, court papers and crowbars, Walsh led an attack on the place, and when the court papers failed in the attempt to have the doors opened Walsh used a crowbar and broke open the door. As he entered a paper of cayenne pepper was thrown from the gallery into the crowd of invaders. There was much sneezing, and Walsh sought a nearby pump to wash the burning particles from his eyes. Then all three partners took possession of the place under armed truce, and the situation calmed down to a state of watchfulness on both sides. The police, under the direction of Chief Walter J. Petersen, kept the crowds moving, and remained on the premises ready to make arrests if trouble started.

It is understood that some compromise has been reached in the trouble, and that there will be no further violence in the war.

MULHALL NOT TO BE CROSS QUESTIONED

Lobby Activity Story Will Be Allowed to Stand as Told.

Witness to Go Before House Committee for Rigid Examination.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—John Mulhall's story of his lobbying activities for the National Association of Manufacturers as unfolded before the Senate lobby committee is to be allowed to stand practically without cross questioning from Democratic members of the committee. Senators Nelson and Cummings probably will continue to demand more detailed statements of his letters as they are introduced into the record, but the Democratic members, Senators Sherman, Reed and Walsh, expect to let the Mulhall story stand.

Mulhall will go before the House lobby committee early next week and it is expected there he will be subjected to a rigid examination as to the charges contained in his mass of correspondence that members of the House were his close associates in political campaign work and in efforts to head off labor legislation.

HAD CONFERENCES.

Mulhall said he went to Massachusetts in August, 1910, and wrote General Manager Bird of the Manufacturers of conferences with Senator Lodge and Charles E. Hatfield, chairman of the state committee.

"Senator Lodge pays us all kinds of compliments for the work we are doing and I know we will have his aid more actively during the next campaign," wrote Mulhall in other letters that the House committee "through our efforts we have beaten the Hon. T. D. Nichols of the Tenth Pennsylvania, and we also have beaten notorious George A. Pearre of injunction fame, in the Sixth Maryland."

WROTE TAFT.

On August 30 Mulhall wrote President Taft asking for an interview for Bird and himself.

"It will be a great help to have a number of the leaders of the manufacturing association in touch with the leaders of our party throughout the country in the present crisis," the letter ran; "we might be able to help in close congressional districts."

Mulhall swore he received a reply from C. F. Norton, the President's secretary, arranging the interview for Monday afternoon, September 12, at Beverly.

Senator Nelson questioned Mulhall closely about items in the expense accounts which frequently showed $50 amounts "paid to two party workers" services in the Sixth New Jersey district. Mulhall swore he dealt with a man named "Feeney," and that he paid him the money in cash, usually meeting him in a Philadelphia hotel. Tax items appeared almost every week.

WROTE FORAKER.

October 5, 1910, Mulhall wrote former Senator Foraker about his talk with President Taft, saying he had submitted names of men who would help in the campaign.

"He seemed to scrutinize the list very closely," Mulhall wrote, "and talked as if John H. Taylor of East Liverpool and H. M. Hanna were not enthusiastic friends of his."

"He was greatly pleased with the work I told him had been done in Massachusetts and other states and advised me to inform our people to do everything we possibly could to keep in touch with members of the congressional committee."

HOSE SHOWER; BUT NOT THE SILK KIND

ST. LOUIS, July 25.—It was not tanned party or a turkey trot evening that Miss Helen Schlegel, a girl of 18, was the entertainment of her guests when the two girls friends came to a visit at the Schlegel home of Miss Schlegel. Something far cooler was served.

The three girls got on their bathing suits Friday and went to the yard of the Schlegel home. Then the family garden hose was brought from the basement and the entertainment began.

The young women then so heated on their "bathing suits" that they decided to go to the Schlegel home and the hose was brought from the basement and the entertainment began.

SLEEP BLISSFULLY AS HOUSE BURNS

Mrs. G. M. Diggs and Daughter Have Narrow Escape From Flames.

SAN LEANDRO, July 25 — With the flames roaring and whipping around them and licking at the bed clothes Mrs. G. M. Diggs and her daughter, aged 12, slept on peacefully this morning when their house at the corner of San Leandro and Washington streets was consumed by flames.

At 2:30 a. m. Mrs. Diggs was awakened from her sleep by a wave of heat coming in at every side of the house. She called her daughter and they fled to the back yard. Diggs slipped on a step and fell, but escaped unhurt. Her daughter, who was in the room, also escaped unhurt. The house was a two-story frame building, and the fire spread rapidly. The fire department arrived within five minutes, but the house was too far gone to save. The cause of the fire is being investigated.

WILL BAR SILK TIGHTS WORN AT CLOSE RANGE

CHICAGO, July 25 — Silk ties are all right, believes Mayor Carter H. Harrison, if viewed from a distance of say 20 yards. But silk ties encasing the figure of a carabai per former who dances and kicks almost over your coffee are all wrong.

The city legal department has drafted an ordinance covering the mayor's idea. It bars the wearing of fleshings by cafe singers or performers in amusement parks who dance close to the audience.

Suggestive songs and "animal" dances will be hit by the same ordinance.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25 — Mrs. Gertrude Alice Lee, who is the wife of Francisco V. Lee, candidate for mayor, has who was the chief magistrate's star witness recently in an arrangement of police court justice, filed suit for divorce today and tied up hubby's salary claiming that he has an affidavit. Whether it has been returned to go on for joy rides when the mayor has been out of town and to take with him the alleged tale, is not revealed. Mrs. Lee alleges she charges other than to take the women in the case and to take the money from the city.

POURS ACID INTO U. S. MAIL BOXES

Youth Emulates Militant Suffragettes and Is Promptly Arrested

JAMESTOWN, July 25 — Earl Stratton, clerk in a paint store, surrendered himself to the postoffice authorities and confessed that he was the man who for three months had systematically destroyed mail deposited in street boxes by acid and black ink.

"I just wanted to go to prison," said Stratton as he told his story. "I have never been able to make much money and I was afraid I might go to the poorhouse. I thought out plans to get into the jail. I knew that if I committed some simple little violation of the city laws I would only go to jail for a few days. I wanted a long term."

Stratton, the postoffice authorities say, is a colored man, 24 years of age, married, and has a family of four children.

PLAN TO RAISE ASSESSED VALUE

City Council Advocates Placing Market Worth on Real Property.

The raising of the assessed valuation of property from 50 per cent of its market value to 100 per cent of its market value is the plan that will be made to establish the change this year but City Assessor George Groves will be asked to consider the plan and perhaps to make the change.

At the present time the assessments placed on property is about 50 per cent of its market value. It is estimated that the increase will be about 50 per cent, and it is also estimated that by raising the assessed valuation the city may be able to collect more money for its expenses.

CHURCH TROUBLES REND WOODLAND

Rev. E. J. Baird of St. Luke's Gives Out Statement in Matter.

ALAMEDA, July 25. — The Rev. E. J. Baird, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church of Woodland, returned yesterday to take further part in the troubles of the church which have now assumed an acute form.

The Rev. Baird is spending the summer in Alameda. He is the rector of the church and has been in the city since his return from Woodland.

The annual vacation here. The vestry of the church has made a public statement declaring that an investigation had been made and that the Rev. Baird, who had been in the city since his return from Woodland, was the cause of the church's troubles.

The business affairs of the parish were conducted in a most unbusinesslike manner, exclusively by one man, C. W. Baird, who was the rector of the church and had been in the city since his return from Woodland.

One evening at vestry meeting, when I advocated a new method of bookkeeping, Mr. Baird protested and asserted that he had handled the funds alone for years and had never made a mistake.

Another member was credited with $25 whereas over $10 had been paid. These were the only two instances of which I had personal knowledge as the treasurer alone handled all the funds.

Later on he discovered that I was right and that the balance in the church fund was $100.00 less than it should have been.

The congregation decided that from the first Sunday of December two people were to receive the offering from the offering box and count and count and count the same before handing it to the treasurer.

During the first four months that the businesslike methods were adopted, from only one-third of the people averaged at the rate of three times the total offerings for last year and the bishop of the diocese wrote me commending the Sunday school through me for the four months increase in Sunday school offerings.

I have seen him (Baird) place the Sunday school offering unopened in one pocket and the church offering unopened in the same pocket. How could any committee audit transactions like that?

General months ago a prominent official member of the standing committee of the diocese told me plainly that I should be considered criminally negligent for allowing such conditions to exist. I wrote to Bishop Moreland about the matter and offered to repeat any statement made, either on paper or in public meeting. He wrote me commending favorably the new business methods.

I have never at any time made any charge against Messrs. George M. Merritt, Charles G. Nelson or H. E. Colli, either in writing or in public meeting.

UNIQUE PROGRAM FOR THE GREEK

Art Lecture and Interesting Concert Planned for Same Afternoon.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, July 25. — An unusual program for Sunday at the Hearst Greek theater is announced by the music and dramatic committee. It will include a lecture by Professor Stoughton-Holborn, extension lecturer in art for Oxford and Cambridge universities, to be followed by a half-hour of music at which the program is to be distinctly Californian. This is to be the last half-hour of music of the summer season, the concert will be given by the Hearst Greek theater.

The Hearst Greek theater was never the scene for a more distinctly Californian program than the one to be presented Sunday. The program is to be distinctly Californian. This is to be the last half-hour of music of the summer season, the concert will be given by the Hearst Greek theater.

The other names on the program are Callaghan, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Redfield and Wallace A. Smith, the well-known composer. Following is the program:

COMPUTING SCALE FOR PARCEL POST

ALAMEDA, July 25. — A new time clock and the latest thing in parcel post scales have been received by the Alameda postoffice and were put in commission. The clock registers the time of the piece sent and the time of the piece received. The scales are a still newer invention and are made expressly for the federal postoffice department by one of the biggest computing scale concerns in the world.

Through an ingenious scale of weighing and computing figures, the scale immediately weighs any package and gives the parcel post charge. The only care needed to be exercised by the weigher is to see that the indicator points to the proper parcel post zone. The weight and proper parcel post charge are then immediately available.

EAGLES INITIATE

ALAMEDA, July 25. — Thirty-five new members were initiated at the meeting of the Alameda lodge of Eagles last night. This is one of the largest classes taken in since the opening of the chapter by the grand lodge about three months ago, during which time the number of Eagles in this city has materially increased.

The lodge now numbers over 600 members and is constantly growing. Following the ceremonies of installation and the business of the meeting a banquet was served and an impromptu program of singing and music enjoyed.

Resolutions of condolence in the matter of the death of Rudolph Martin, a prominent member of the lodge, were adopted.

FUNERAL OF YOUNG BOY

BERKELEY, July 25. — The funeral of George Axel Potts, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Potts of 1725 Blake street, was held yesterday afternoon at the family home. Besides the father and mother the lad is survived by five brothers, Arthur, Edwin, Amel, Leonard and Frank, and four sisters, Elsie, Ethel, Esther and Hazel Potts.

I have made no personal but official and against the unbusinesslike method of the former church treasurer, C. W. Baird, and these charges can be easily substantiated.

PLAY MAKES GOOD BOYS AND GIRLS

Physical Educational Society in Two Days' Session Studies Question.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, July 25. — "The play school theory is that it is not necessary to put children in jail to teach them," declared Professor Clark W. Hetherington today when the delegates to the Physical Educational Association of the Pacific opened their two-day convention with a visit to the summer session school.

The school was followed by luncheon at the Hotel Carlton, and this in the afternoon by an interesting session at Hearst Hall. The convention will conclude tomorrow.

Professor Hetherington continued his description of the activities of the play school at the afternoon conference. He said: "The 250 children in the play school spend nearly all of their time out of doors. They learn through bodily activity, through doing things. From day to day they are engaged in playing games in which there is much adding and subtracting to be done. From day to day they are engaged in playing games in which there is much adding and subtracting to be done."

Professor Hetherington explained that this system of education was the normal system for the child, appealing to his primary want, physical activity and making the means of conveyance to his understanding of other and more intellectual matters. That the children in the play school were made to mind was one detail in which the methods in use differed from some recent educational novelties.

Dr. Frank G. Bruner, director of clinical psychology in the Chicago city schools, followed with an address on "The Psychological Method in Education." He told of the work being done at the university this summer in training teachers to deal with backward children, those mentally deficient or those abnormally bright. These are children who children of school in the summer session is a test on the campus for teachers to observe and to work with under expert direction.

Both of the papers of the afternoon session evoked much discussion. Professor C. E. Rugh of the University of California department of education led the consideration of Professor Hetherington's arguments, while Dr. Bruner's address was discussed especially by Dr. Kate Brousseau, psychology professor at Mills College, and Mrs. Vinnie C. Hicks, clinical psychologist in the Oakland schools.

Professor Leon J. Richardson, dean of the summer session, presided at the conference. Continuing the session for this evening there has been arranged a public demonstration of present-day physical education and playground methods in the Greek Theater. The University students and the children of the "play-school" will show these new methods in gymnastic drill, folk dancing, children's singing games, acrobatic dancing, etc.

The Red Light Abatement Law will be the subject for discussion tomorrow morning. Since the referendum has been invoked against this new law, arguments in favor of sustaining the measure will be presented by a number of speakers.

Including Miss Fanny McLean, vice-president of the California Civic League; Professor Thomas H. Reed, Mrs. J. W. Orr, president of the California Federation of Women's Clubs; Dr. J. C. Sanger of the Medical Department, and S. C. Evans, of Riverside.

The conference will close with an inspection of the playground maintained on the university campus during the summer session, where a thousand or more Berkeley children resort daily and are trained in all manner of outdoor sports.

MOCK SESSION AS LAW TEST STUDENTS WILL TRY DEBATE

Oratorical Contest to Bring Out a "Near" Congress.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, July 25. — Next Wednesday evening has been chosen as the date for the oratorical contest which will bring to a close the activities of the class in parliamentary law which has been conducted during the summer session. The contest, which has been arranged by the Misses Alice Fleenor, Phyllis Ackerman and Elizabeth Anthony, the instructors in the course, will take place at room 300 in the Chemistry building and will be open to the public without charge.

Professor Robert Irving Fulton of the Ohio Western university's school of oratory is to preside. Fifteen minutes of anecdote will be contributed to the program by Professor Thomas H. Reed of this university.

The first portion of the affair will be a mock session of the House of Representatives. In a second contest a similar program will be followed, except that this time the subject will be the Panama Canal.

The questions for consideration in each contest will be "Resolved, That the United States Should Fortify the Panama Canal."

and games, and where the summer session students have training for work as physical education teachers and playground supervisors.

NEW POSTOFFICE ARE WORKING ON

Rumors of Strike on Alameda Federal Building Denied by Superintendent.

ALAMEDA, July 25. — A threatened strike on the new postoffice building has been averted. Business agents of the union labor organizations have concluded their investigations and so far the men are still at work and probably will continue to remain at work. The superintendent of construction said that the men were not on strike.

Apparently the building is making unexpected slow progress. Soon after the granite work was started the work was stopped by the government inspectors owing to the belief that the granite being used would not prove satisfactory. The granite is from California quarries. After eight tests the inspectors submitted their report and allowed the work to proceed. Contractor William Murray declares that he has never used better building granite in his life than the California stone. He speaks after experience of eastern and western granite, including the choicest rock of the famed New England quarries.

140 Men's Suits to Be Closed Out Saturday at $9.75

Originally Priced $15, $18.50, $20, $25

Every Spring and Summer Weight Suit in the Men's Clothing Department is included in this clearance for Friday and Saturday at a uniform price of $9.75. Incoming fall merchandise is crowding us for room. For this reason we have put a price of $9.75 on the entire balance of the Spring and Summer weight garments. This price is nothing short of sensational, for suits are included that have been extraordinary values at $15, $18.50, $20 and $25.

Norfolk, box backs, English models, staple shapes—everything, in fact, in Spring and Summer weights in light and dark patterns in all sizes are figured at this one price. The savings are so big you can not afford to miss this opportunity. It will pay you to borrow the money, if you haven't it with you, rather than to let such an opportunity get past you.

TO HOLD SCHOOL BOND ELECTION
Richmond Will Vote on Issue of $150,000 for More Schools.
RICHMOND, July 25.—A meeting of four rooms to Persus school and installing a heating and ventilating system, $15,000; additional lots and improvements of Montana avenue site, $10,000; additional lots at Main street site, $10,000; building at Main street, $25,000; site at Pullman, $10,000; building at Pullman, $10,000; addition and improvement at Tenth street site, $5000; addition to Fairmont school with heating and ventilating, $20,000; site near El Cerrito, $10,000; building at El Cerrito, $12,000; site at East Richmond, $20,000; building at East Richmond, $12,000.
The above represents the plans of the Richmond school board for the expenditure of the money if the $150,000 school bond election carries, which is to be held in this city next week Friday, August 1. The consensus of opinion is that the bond election will carry by a handsome majority, for if there is any one thing more important to the people of Richmond than a good school system, it is the schools and educational facilities for their children.
The money for further building and improvement, as well as the purchase of school sites, is asked by the school authorities to not only relieve the present congested conditions in nearly every one of the present schools, but also to provide facilities which will adequately take care of the growth of the outlying sections of the city and the increased attendance of pupils there which is piling up enormously more and more all the time with the increased population.
The school department is already again handicapped in its efforts to keep pace with the growth of the city and school population, notwithstanding the fact that $150,000 was expended last year in the erection of two of the largest and best school buildings anywhere around the bay section.
There is some slight opposition to the bond election of next week, but it is not thought that it will amount to enough to materially endanger the successful termination of the effort to provide still greater and better school facilities for Richmond at once.

MAD DOGS ATTACK 3 IN RICHMOND
One Rabid Animal Clings to Man's Arm Until Throat Is Cut.
RICHMOND, July 25.—A rabid dog, employed as bartender at the Baltic bar, while on his way home yesterday was attacked and severely bitten by a mad dog at the corner of Sixth street and Macdonald avenue, the dog sinking his teeth in the man's left arm. It was impossible for Terry to shake the dog loose and it was not until he was assisted by an employee of the Santa Fe company that he was enabled to pry the infuriated animal loose from the deep bite it had in his arm. It was necessary for the two men to cut the dog's throat to release Terry from his perilous position. His wounds were at once cauterized by local physicians.
Another rabid dog attacked an employee of the Pacific Portland works yesterday, was driven away, and later bit a little girl, but inquiry among medical authorities fails to throw any light on her identity. The dog was killed by a policeman and the police are now endeavoring to locate the head of the dog which bit Terry.
It is probable that the extreme sultry weather following the rain of the past few days was the cause of the dogs being affected, and it is probable that the municipal ordinance of the city will again be enforced.
The latest report from Berkeley received today from Health Commissioner Blake states that the dog which bit Terry had a pronounced case of rabies.

BOY, SEEING WORLD, VICTIM OF ROBBERY
Roy Georgensen, the 14-year-old son of H. P. Georgensen of Fresno, is at the Danaher home, awaiting the arrival of his father to take him home after having been robbed of his belongings and left destitute. The boy, who is 14 years of age and very small, came here with $9 in his possession. He was in San Francisco yesterday and started to walk to Modesto, where his father lives.
At Pointe the boy asked a section crew how much farther he would have to walk and told his story. Conductor J. E. Devereaux of the Southern Pacific brought him to Oakland and turned him over to the police. The boy had come to San Francisco with money he earned himself, to celebrate his fourteenth birthday.

TUNNEL CASE WILL BE HEARD TOMORROW
RICHMOND, July 25.—A case of unusual importance to this city will come up for a hearing in the Superior Court at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, when the suit recently instituted by the municipality against the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad Company and the trust company holding its first mortgage bonds, for a right of way for the municipality, highway and tunnel to the outer harbor will be called. The city will be represented by City Attorney D. J. Hall and Harbor Engineer P. A. Haviland, while the railroad company will be represented by its counsel. According to advices which have been received by the city authorities from the railroad's legal department, that company is anxious to have the suit settled, and it is thought that some compromise can be secured which will prevent the threatened break between the city and the railroad company, and long litigation before a right of way over the railroad property can be secured. Parties concerned expect that the matter will be adjusted without going to trial with the case.

WRITE AUTO PARTY DELAYED IN HILLS
Change of Plans of Indiana Manufacturers Found to Be Necessary.
Will Have Luncheon in This City Monday Noon Is Plan.
A change in the plans of the annual committee having charge of the banquet and reception to Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels and the Indiana automobile manufacturers, was found necessary late yesterday afternoon when a telegram was received from W. McKay White of the auto people, then at Bishop, Cal., that the tourists would be unable to attend because of the bad roads and washouts found in the eastern California hills. Instead, the automobilists will be here Sunday at 4 p. m. and plan to remain in Oakland until 2 o'clock the next afternoon.
Answer to a meeting called immediately by Chairman H. E. McConall, the members of the committee decided to invite the auto tour people to a luncheon Monday noon and a telegram was sent to them at once. An answer carried the assurance that the tourists would be together with additional instructions regarding the schedule. Labor will be worked late this afternoon and time will be spent until their departure, Saturday, repairing and cleaning the cars, which are said to be somewhat damaged by the torments and rough roads encountered. Sacramento will be made Sunday morning and then Oakland.
They will rest here until Monday morning, when the local auto people will accompany them on a three hours' tour around Oakland and vicinity. The luncheon at the Hotel Oakland, at which 250 people will be present, will conclude their entertainment and at 2 o'clock the party will leave for San Francisco. A new list of speakers will be made for the luncheon. Impromptu remarks probably being in the majority.
The dinner Saturday night to Secretary Daniels will take place as planned, the only changes found necessary being fewer places set, 175 guests now being planned for and the main banquet room of the Hotel Oakland used instead of the ballroom.

May Shut Off the Brain From Area of Operation
LONDON, July 25.—Great interest was taken in the meeting of the British Medical Association at Brighton yesterday when Sir Berkeley Moynihan, professor of clinical surgery at the University of Leeds, described the discovery by the American surgeon, George W. Crile of Cleveland, Ohio, of a method of anaesthesia whereby the area of operation could be shut off from the brain for several days.
The Daily Express, commenting editorially, considers that the discovery is perhaps one of the greatest in modern surgery.

Rumania's Armistice Proposal Is Rejected
BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 25.—Greece and Serbia today definitely rejected the Rumanian proposal for the conclusion of a provisional armistice during the conference at Nish. The two governments say they can consent to the cessation of hostilities only after the signature of an armistice and of the peace preliminaries.
The latest report from Berkeley received today from Health Commissioner Blake states that the dog which bit Terry had a pronounced case of rabies.
